What are we learning?

Next week we will be continuing our Beginning of the year/All about me study. The children are getting to know our preschool daily routines. We have been introducing each interest center in small groups. We have explored the math, art, dramatic play, block and sensory centers. The children are learning how to play respectfully with each other and with the materials in our classroom. We will continue to master the routines of our classroom in the coming weeks.

Reminders:

There will be no school on September 2. (Labor day)

If you have not done so already, please return any papers that need signatures, scrapbook pages for our class book or other beginning of the year paperwork. Thank you!

Have a wonderful weekend! -Mrs. W
